Torn Apart

Death Before Dishonor

Life has fked me over one too many times it doesn't matter how hard I try I feel so empty inside have you ever been so alone so alone the pain grows old everyday I fight to survive it's just another day to get by (chorus) depression has taken over it's taken my will to live suicide it's my only friend it will be there in the end emptiness is a part of me I don't think it will ever leave me (2x) spend the rest of my time underground take my life away self inflicting I can't mistake the choice it's heard from an inside voice (chorus) torn apart I can't tell what's right or wrong torn apart the stress has gone on for so long torn apart you burned my heart torn apart I'm not that strong torn apart now I learned from my mistakes
