Death Plus

And if it takes all night
I'll wait to see you in the morning after
But take me with you where you go
Is there a place where I can feel alone with someone else
Letting me know that I'm not alone tonight?
If rains fall down and the heavens crash
Then I'll still be waiting
And if the sun beams down, a fire [?] so bright
Then I'll still be here at your doorstep waiting
And if the world falls apart from beneath
I'll drop through the cracks right where I'm standing
It doesn't make sense
It doesn't make sense
To be without you
