

Don't Fall For Monsters

DeathbyRomy

"Romy, don't say I didn't warn you, we've been over this before
"

I really thought he was the one, though, I really let myself [?
]

I really stayed with such a monster and you had on his disguise
I said "oh, Romy, look an angel," but look deeper in his eyes
It was a smile that only held more, it was the ultimate disguis e

For he just smiled and said "I love you"

And I believed him and I tried

But "I love you," it means nothing, those are words that do not bind

You say "I love you," but you hate me, and it's no wonder I was right

Because "I love you," it means nothing, not when he won't take the time

Ooh, don't fall for monsters

I thought I had me a prize, but his shine, it quickly rusted

Leaving nothing but a [?] and a ghost which had no [?]

He just fled off from my life, and you can guess, I let him hur t me

But when I couldn't survive, he just [?]

[?], he left me and I was wounded

For he had drained me of my light

Ooh, don't fall for monsters