

Say Yes

Debbie Gibson

Sometimes I see,
That faraway look in your eyes
Won't you talk to me
And tell me what's been going on
Don't keep your feelings hidden inside
Well I want you to know,
There's nothing I won't do for you

The world's a better place
When I see your face

Each day, oh it's true
I'm falling deeper in love with you
Now I need to know if you feel it too
There comes a time, to cross the line
And make it real, so tell me what you feel

Now my heart is in your hands
Tell me that you understand
All the joy and tenderness
We could share if you say yes
All the love that we deserve
Is hanging on one single word
So come on won't you please say yes

Sometimes I say,
Your words belong to my daydream
Won't you throw the key for reaching you and make it real
I need the words filling my heart
It's easy to see, you're holding me under your spell
The memory of your kiss lingers on my lips

So strong can't you tell
I want you safe in my arms where you belong
I need your love from this moment on
Till the end of time, so speak your mind
If this is real, just tell me how you feel

Now my heart is in your hands
Tell me that you understand
All the joy and tenderness
We could share if you say yes
All the love that we deserve
Is hanging on one single word
So come on won't you please say yes

My destiny is say yes
So come on won't you say yes

Now my heart is in your hands
Tell me that you understand
All the joy and tenderness
We could share if you say yes
Now my heart is in your hands
All the joy and tenderness
We could share if you say yes
All the love that we deserve

Is hanging on one single word
So come on won't you please say yes

Say yes ...
