

Breathe Again

December Avenue

Is it real? Are you really over here?
All the empty spaces
Seemed to be where I am moving

Are you near to the sound of these illusions?
I keep dreaming of your face
And feel fine for a while

And I'll break the time
To keep us stranded for a while
And I'll take the chance
To watch you far from here so I can

Breathe again
By the love I'm waiting like the sunrise
And the warmth of a dream
That I have seen through your eyes
Breathe again,
You're the reason I believe it's alright
Take me deeper into you,
Take me home where my soul is

Is it real? Are you really over here?
When I look into the night, I see the day is clear

And I'll break the time
To keep us stranded for a while
And I'll take the chance
To watch you far from here so I can

Breathe again
By the love I'm waiting like the sunrise
And the warmth of a dream
That I have seen through your eyes
Breathe again,
You're the reason I believe it's alright
Take me deeper into you,
Take me home where my soul is

Breathe again,
You're the love I wait before the sunrise
And the warmth of a dream
That I have seen through your eyes
Breathe again,
You're the reason I believe it's alright
Take me deeper into you,
Take me home where my soul is

And I'm running next to you,
And I'm running next to you,
You're my home where my soul is
I'm running next to you,
I'm running next to you,
And I'm running next to you