

Before the Song Fades Out

Deep Blue Something

Light my way, if I can't see to step
Before this ending divides us yet
Light it up, light up the sky
Shake that thunder to remind us why

Before the song fades out
There are some things that we should say
Before a tear can hit the ground
Let's run it back again
Bring the house lights down

Here I am, an hour late
A coward emptied of all I wouldn't say
If we could these years unwind
All fates and futures, and stars align

Before the song fades out
There are some things that we should say
Before a tear can hit the ground
Let's run it back again
Bring the house lights down

We laugh at the times when I said too much
But what can I say that would be enough?
And I choke on the words I'm still not saying
And the moment that was fades away

Before the song fades out
There are some things that we should say
Before a tear can hit the ground
Let's run it back again
Bring the house lights down

Bring the house lights down
Bring the house lights down
