

If Here Is Where You Are

Del McCoury

Nobody stays in one place very long
They say hello, next thing you know they're gone
Way back in the good old days, folks used to take their time
These days it seems to me
They drop by so they can leave

If here is where you are
Here is where you're s'posed to be
If you come from near or far
It makes no never-mind to me
Take off your coat, pull up a chair
Wait a while and you will see
If here is where you are right now
Then here is where you're s'posed to be

I've been around the block a time or two
There's good times and there's hard times I've been through
The world just keeps on turning, and if there's one thing I keep learning
The more I'm in a hurry
The more I tend to worry
