

Hideaway Paradise

Delain

I'm standing on the edge, I'm standing on the edge
I'm standing on the edge, I'm standing on the edge

Feel the tension build
Before the lightning strikes and thunder sounds
Faint echoes call me down
Whispering they call me down

There's a place in my mind
Where you can't sow your blight
Where nothing flows on but the ether
And the cares of the world become weightless
And I always hear the call

Let the world keep turning above me
Voices broken in the dark
As the storm is raging above me
Let me hide away here on my own

Hideaway paradise

Feel the distance grow
Between two hearts that lose touch in the crowd
The storm is bearing down
Whispered echoes call me down

There's a place deep within
Where you can't enter in
A place that is mine, my own shelter
Where the storm and the crowd become noiseless
And I always feel the call

Let the world keep turning above me
Voices broken in the dark
As the storm is raging above me
Here you won't ever control

Let the world keep turning above me
Voices broken in the dark
As the storm is raging above me
Let me hide away here on my own

I'm standing on the edge, I'm standing on the edge
I'm standing on the edge, I'm standing on the edge

Hideaway paradise

Let the world keep turning above me
Voices broken in the dark
As the storm is raging above me
Let me hide away here on my own

Hideaway paradise
