

Aliens Exist

Delaney Jane

If NASA could move faster, find a formula to find me love (Find me love)
'Cause there's a lack of chemistry and it's got me numb (Got me numb)
Maybe I'll just hitch a ride
Take a trip on the closest satellite
Try my luck in bigger skies
To find what I'm looking for

If aliens exist, then maybe good guys do too
I'm searching every galaxy but I can't find you
I know I got friends in the celestial attic
But I'm not so sure about that love and magic (Yeah)
If aliens exist, then maybe good guys do too

Now I'm just kinda waiting for the mothership to beam me up (Beam me up)
'Cause an alien abduction is more likely than finding love (Finding love)
Sometimes when I see the stars
It's bright, but all I see are broken hearts
Is it suppose to be this hard
To find what I'm looking for?

If aliens exist, then maybe good guys do too
I'm searching every galaxy but I can't find you
Even if it's five percent of seven billion
That's a lot of people that I'm clearly missing (Yeah)
If aliens exist, then maybe good guys do too

Maybe they do too
Maybe they do too
Maybe they do too
If aliens exist then maybe good guys do, too
Maybe they do
Maybe they do

Is it ballistic or just realistic that I think the odds are against me?
Is it crazy or a little insanely on point?
'Cause the scientific method clearly never got the message
'Cause I've tried and I've tried and I've failed
I'll send up my wishes and pray that they listen
And hope that my ship hasn't sailed

If aliens exist, then maybe good guys do too
I'm searching every galaxy but I can't find you
I know I got friends in the celestial attic
But I'm not so sure about that love and magic (Yeah)
If aliens exist, then maybe good guys do too

Maybe they do too
Maybe they do too
Maybe they do too
If aliens exist then maybe good guys do too
Maybe they do
Maybe they do too
