

Trust Yourself

Delta Goodrem

I need to tell the truth
I can't lie anymore
I need to do what's right
I know that's what my life is for
I can't be quiet anymore
Of what I'm supposed to do
I need to tell the truth
And do what's right by you

I need to speak my mind
And let my heart run free
Your pain will heal with time
And one day you'll thank me
And as I follow my dream
And there is no room for you
Just know there was no scheme
It's just what I had to do

Trust yourself - you know all the answers
Trust yourself - you know what is right
Trust yourself - they're all there inside you
They've been there forever, just show them some light
