

From One Woman To Another

Delta Rae

Were you all alone at the bar that night
When he came up and gave you a smile
And you talked 'til 2, like you'd known him all your life?

Was it fireworks every time you kissed
With just one look he'd have you convinced
You would always be the only one for him?

Don't shoot the messenger
I just used to be you girl

He'll go from one woman to another
He's a ramblin' man, who's ready to run
Like all cowboys soon he'll be gone
And you'll know that he's found another lover
So from one woman to another let him go

You look good together when you walk in the party
Thought I might be jealous, but I just feel sorry
Your heart's on fire, and his eyes are miles away

Don't shoot the messenger
It's just all so damn familiar

'Cause he'll go from one woman to another
He's a ramblin' man, who's ready to run
Like all cowboys soon he'll be gone
And you'll know that he's found another lover
From one woman to another let him go

Let him go
Get your heart ready for goodbye
Let him go
He's not worth the tears you'd cry
I'm just giving you a warning
If he's not there one morning

He'll go from one woman to another
Unless you say you're done, while there's time to run
Leave him in your dust and go find the one
Who you know isn't just another lover
From one woman to another let him go

'Cause he'll go
From one woman to another
From one woman to another
Let him go
