These roads stretch a thousand miles In every way, I look for the day As we ride over the hill Well, I am blind

The Golden State has been home
But I place my stake to roam and to rake
But good souls we mend
Would teach me in what course to take

Good friends remain Even through the pain Of a long road ahead

At 48 we seem so well For three short years we worked like hell I've been here before lyin' on your floor It was good to me

Good friends remain Even through the pain Of a long road ahead

These roads stretch a thousand miles In every way, I look for the day As we ride over the hill Well, I am blind

Good friends remain Even through the strain Of a long road ahead
