

War Machine

Delta Spirit

War machine you can't break me,
you can't have the world I love.
I lied like the government,
pretended that pain don't exist.
They stare down the barrel of a gun.

War machine you can't break me,
you can't have the world I love.
I was so occupied, compassion I had declined.
The first world, it always gets it's way.

War machine you can't break me,
you can't have the world I love.

Watching the clock just tick,
blockhead rhetoric.
The life you've known is surely gone.
They watched as their children fell,
stories that dead men tell.
The frontless battle rages on.

War machine you can't break me,
you can't have the world I love.

War machine you can't break me,
you can't have the world I love,
you can't have the world I love,
you can't have the world I love.
