The Uncrowned

Demigod

Every life you devoured Will haunt you unending The flesh between your teeth The flesh created by your mother

Fantasize about forgetting everything Dream of taking steps back They mock your efforts Your shameful hour of regret

Their hammers - your deeds No use shutting your eyes Raw picture of reality Your superiority Open game

Measure your chances Seek out a hole small enough It will come down to you Like rain slashing your wounds

Can you see it now
Imagine taking your last breath
Arrive to your punishers
Your disorder shall be repaid