

Little Girl

Demis Roussos

It's hard to sing a love song
When you're not in love
Hard to see the sunshine on this old grey clouds above
No it's not the face of love
Anywhere I've been
But will never feel an inspiration again

Baby, do you know what you done
You, hopeless case of lonesome
You are the sun
And once more, I can ignore
The feeling that you cause to rise
When I see the look of love in your eyes

You won't tell me you love me
But I can see it now
The feeling is much to easy
And it won't work out so bad
Well you, don't have to tell me
Because I really know
Try to hide it from me
I can let a little show

Yeah, do you know what you done
You, the hopeless case of lonesome
You are the sun
Once more, I can ignore
The feeling that you cause to rise
When I see the look of love in your eyes

Do you know what you done
You, the hopeless case of lonesome
You are the sun
And once more, I can ignore
The feeling that you cause to rise
When I see the look of love in your eyes
