

Need To Forget

Demis Roussos

Tell me who will I find to share my life
Now that we falling apart
Tell me what can we do to face the world
Now that we're both alone
Tell me how to explain what I feel inside
I don't know what to say
But life goes on and there's no turning round
And now it's time to start again

And I need to forget you once loved me
But you smiled for me in your special way
And I feel only sadness
Each morning when I wake alone
And I need to forget every moment
For those good times we shared are all in the past
And I need to pretend it's not over
That you and I are still as one
Still as one

Tell me why did we have to end this way
After so many years
Tell me where was the point that we went all wrong
I just can't understand
Tell when did your dreams stop including me
I'd really like to know
But life goes on and there's no turning back
And now it's time to start again

And I need to forget you once loved me
But you smiled for me in your special way
And I feel only sadness
Each morning when I wake alone
And I need to forget every moment
For those good times we shared are all in the past
And I need to pretend it's not over
That you and I are still as one
Still as one
