

Hang The Fire

Demon Hunter

Blood in the roots that you set
Filling the white of your eyes
Nothing to weigh, you will get what you get
Patience will not sympathize

You know this world is your ending
No crown in defending your way
I hear your grave in the distance
Resounding resistance to stay
To stay in vain

Days you will find fading in time
Words of redemption lost in resign
Leaving your soul hollow and blind
Held in the balance while you hang the fire

Time in the face of regret
Led by the weight of your ties
Wake from your sleeping, surrender your debt
Watch as the agony dies

You know this world is your ending
No crown in defending your way
I hear your grave in the distance
Resounding resistance to stay
To stay in vain

Days you will find fading in time
Words of redemption lost in resign
Leaving your soul hollow and blind
Held in the balance while you hang the fire
Hang the fire

Waiting for signs you have already seen
Caught in the shadows between
All that you feel is a yearning to stray
Fighting your will to delay
Lighting your way through the gray

You know this world is your ending
No crown in defending your way
I hear your grave in the distance
Resounding resistance to stay
To stay in vain

Days you will find fading in time
Words of redemption lost in resign
Leaving your soul hollow and blind
Held in the balance of why

Days you will find fading in time
Words of redemption lost in resign
Leaving your soul hollow and blind
Held in the balance while you hang the fire