

Overwhelming Closure

Demon Hunter

I'm on the outside looking in
Into resolve so far away
I see redemption wearing thin
Behind a thought unfading

It's been a cold, dark way to go
I spent a lifetime praying
I can't believe what I don't know
I can't believe I'm feeling

Every little thing
Pulling me apart
Tell me when to breathe
Take it all to heart, or let me go

I might settle for an overwhelming closure
Though I won't recognize it when I feel it

I can't pretend I've seen it fade
It's in the walls around us
And there's a mind I should have made
If I could end this feeling

Every little thing
Pulling me apart
Tell me when to breathe
Take it all to heart, or let me go

I might settle for an overwhelming closure
Though I won't recognize it when I feel it
I might settle for an overwhelming closure
Though I won't recognize it when I feel it

I might settle for an overwhelming closure
Though I won't recognize it

I might settle for an overwhelming closure
Though I won't recognize it when I feel it
I might settle for an overwhelming closure
Though I won't recognize it
