

All That I Knew

DEMOTIONAL

All we have is time, but nothing lasts forever
Once I had it all, it was back in my prime

Those were the days when I was laughing at danger
Whiskey and blood and I would fuck with a stranger
Bouncing those bullets, all those troubles couldn't keep up with me
Give it a try, the world is mine

Live by the moment, be my own truth
It was all that I knew
Carefree forever, eternal youth
It was all that I knew

I was king, the world was my throne
And nothing, fucking nothing, could hold me down

Live by the moment, be my own truth
It was all that I knew
Carefree forever, eternal youth
It was all that I knew

Mislead by my own proudness, avoiding my reflection
Consumed by my own madness, what would stare right back at me
My war was my progression, but it was all deception
This is my last confession. I never thought that I'd be here

I've been so wrong, for too long
All is done. My last song

Live by the moment, be my own truth
It was all that I knew
Carefree forever, eternal youth
It was all that I knew
