

Scandinavian Aftermath

DEMOTIONAL

There's nothing weirder than to wake up with my enemy
Despite I know that I was wrong
I take the thought and push it away
I don't believe that the fact I never learn
I never change, won't have a downside for me
I'm immortal, I'll be ok
But what comes up must come down, that's what they say
What they say

There's always hope in a brand new day
When we dream then the reality seem far away
When morning comes same old thing because
Life's a party and I'm hopelessly addicted to the rush

I can't help it, I'm such a slave
There is something in my veins I can't contain
When will I learn to behave?
So just fuck it, let's play the game
Let's enjoy the ride, we all die all the same

There's always hope in a brand new day
When we dream then the reality seem far away
When morning comes same old thing because
Life's a party and I'm hopelessly addicted to the rush

There's always hope in a brand new day
When we dream then the reality seem far away
When morning comes same old thing because
Life's a party and I'm hopelessly addicted to the rush