

Heavenly Speed

Deportees

The heat and the water, you, kids and the times
All your silly ambitions, the beer and the wine
The jokes that your friend made, you should have laughed at that
Out of all of the gardens and chateaus this is the place where my mind goes

The fat and the hungry, the friend you forgot
That time when you begged him, but he didn't stop
If nothing is sacred what kind of life do you get?
Out of all of the gardens and chateaus this is the place where
my mind goes

These are the things you shouldn't think of falling asleep
These are the things you shouldn't think of falling asleep
Bring me away, bring me the wings of heavenly speed
These are the things you shouldn't think of falling asleep

Everything's dying, the mark on your skin
While the strong are so wicked, [?]
Now why did I say that? I tried to impress you, I guess Out of all those gardens and chateaus this is the place where my mind goes

These are the things you shouldn't think of falling asleep
These are the things you shouldn't think of falling asleep
Bring me away, bring me the wings of heavenly speed
These are the things you shouldn't think of falling asleep

Bring me away, bring me the wings of heavenly speed
These are the things you shouldn't think of falling asleep
Bring me away, bring me the wings of heavenly speed