

Take It Back

Depswa

Every time that you're staring into my eyes
I don't know what your motives will be
But I know that all we had was a walk-about
And the falling out of my dreams

Take it back, you're an atrocity of humanity
It's a hole that keeps on feeding from my heart
It's the same that if you would love me anyway
But I noticed all the reasons not to start

All the while anesthetizing a suicide
It's the only reason I could breathe
Took a chance and dove right into a fake romance
As pathetic as it seems

Take it back, you're an atrocity of humanity
It's a hole that keeps on feeding from my heart
It's the same that if you would love me anyway
But I noticed all the reasons not to start

So sad your hourglass is gone
Shuffling on the eggshells of your first born
And I'm not alone

What do you say?
The whole night through

Take it back, you're an atrocity of humanity
It's a hole that keeps on feeding from my heart
It's the same that if you would love me anyway
But I noticed all the reasons not to start

Take it back
As your breath smells less than roses
And you're losing all the choices of a first born
Take it back
As your lips blow poison kisses
And you'll never know more than wishes
For a first born and I'm not alone
