

Hail To The Masters

Derdian

Something is shining there
There in the red sky
The Lord is coming here

Down on this land our job is to build
The great empire of the Masters
They came from stars to show the way
They'll teach us to be strong

Landing the ship after the trip
From the far iron mother
What will they bring this time
Who knows what they've found

So let's get together
Here we wait, great horde
We welcome you merciful, strong God

Here to look the ship landing
Somebody thinks it is ending
The human civilization that all we know
We say: "Hail to the masters!"
Without them our kind festers
And the oblivion will keep us all

The metal gates are opening
We see an artificial green light
Shadows of creatures keeping in chains
A man or something else

The smoke thins out, the crew comes out
Dragging behind their creation
"Adam you will call him!"
Shout out the great God

A huge roar from people
Who raises all their spears
And it seems the fear has disappeared

Here to look the ship landing
Somebody thinks it is ending
The human civilization that all we know
We say: "Hail to the masters!"
Without them our kind festers
And the oblivion will keep us all

"He's the founder of the future race
You will respect his sons.
Thy will be done
Word of the lords
We'll keep an eye on you!"

Here to look the ship landing
Somebody thinks it is ending
The human civilization that all we know
We say: "Hail to the masters!"

Without them our kind festers
And the oblivion will keep us all

Here to look the ship landing
Somebody thinks it is ending
The human civilization that all we know
We say: "Hail to the masters!"
Without them our kind festers
And the oblivion will keep us all