

Change The World

Derek Minor

I bet you just want to let your light shine
It feel like you been waiting for the right time
This is your moment, moment, moment
It's time to change the world.

We are the brightest
We also come to the darkness
Lord knows when the light rise
Unity's calling
Crying out from the mountain
Telling us to come home right now
Your my brother
We don't have to fight anymore
Oh brother
None of us win in this war

Beautiful people don't you know you're made in His image
The image of greatness
Why don't we see His reflection inside one another
In all of our faces

I bet you just want to let your light shine (oh, yeah)
It feel like you been waiting for the right time
This is your moment, moment, moment, moment
This is your moment, moment, moment
It's time to change the world

What are you waiting for?
What are you waiting for?
You know there's no time to waste but to get up
I know your made for more
Oh yeah your made for more
Even when our hope is lost, never let up
Your my brother
What are we fighting for, I need to know brother, none of us win in this war

Beautiful people don't you know your made in His image
The image of greatness
Why don't we see His reflection inside one another
In all of our faces

I bet you just want to let your light shine
It feel like you been waiting for the right time
This is your moment, moment, moment, moment
This is your moment, moment, moment
It's time to change the world, world, world, world, world
It's time to change the world, world, world, world, world
It's time to change the world, world, world, world, world
It's time to change the world, world, world, world, world
