

Call Off Your Ghost

Dessa

Last night, best friend, big wedding
And I knew you'd be there too
Look at us, all grown up
Collared shirts and high heel shoes
You crossed the room, just the decent thing to do
Make sure we've all been introduced
You brought your new friend
I brought mine shake hands
Pay courtesy it's due
But it takes it's toll
And it takes it's hold

We've lived too long too close
So call off your ghost

Now you're asking can't we just be friends
But this pain in my chest still rings
And its better to just pretend
That I can't see you waiting
Can't hear you call my name and
I know how much you hate it
But babe I've got to walk away
You once said if we were careful
That we could do this all our lives
Although one of us got clumsy
And both of us got wise
And now were not so young see
Our wishing wells gone dry

We've been living too long too close
And I'm ready to let you go
I'm ready, so call off your ghost

I think she lives around here
I see her almost daily
All I can do to stop myself from saying something crazy
I don't think badly of her
I hope she makes you happy
It's just a lot to ask to watch your future walking past me
I know that jealousy's a perfect waste of time
But left to my devices
I've spent far too long wasting mine x2

We've been living too long too close
And I'm ready to let you go
I'm ready, so call off your ghost x2
