

I came to crash your party
Looks like your party crashed itself
Everyone left early
There must be something good going somewhere else
But I see you through the window
You're wearing the face you make when you're alone
I knock and you let me in though
You wanna know what I came for

And I accidentally tell the truth

I don't know what to do
When I'm not here with you
I'm lost
I'm running around
I'm a creep, I'm a clown
I'm exhausted
So

So I came to crash your party
And yeah I know now it's too late to talk
I just wanna help pick up all the pieces
Feel like it never even happened at all
I came to crash your party
C'mon and say I can stay just to help
I know you could use somebody
To get the glasses back up on the shelf

To crash your party
C'mon and say I can stay just to
Crash
To crash your party
To crash
To crash your party