Foolin'

Devendra Banhart

Foolin' on the human population I know my mind's on the front line But when I'm lovin' on the human population Thank God my heart's playin' its part

One day, one day at a time One day, one day at a time

Love is the birth of a nation Born from the good womb of humankind All these stories of creation Came from the same flame of the most high

One song, one song at a time One song, one song at a time

Fearing oh I'm sure gettin' better With every morn a new fear is born But when I'm trusting trusting trusting Knowing that we're in it together Free to face unknown, free to overcome

One day, one day at a time One day, one day at a time
