

Recover

Device

I've only known redemption within your eyes
I feel a hunger that will not subside
I see the flame as it reflects in your eye
No other retribution will suffice
Our guardian angels won't forsake us this night
It seems that destiny has come
So let us live in the moment tonight
Let all our barriers be broken tonight

Let me take hold of your mind
When every decadent thought
Is my favorite kind
Let me console you tonight
And recover

Let me take hold of your mind
And all the loves that we've lost
Will not plague us this time
When I behold you tonight
We'll recover

A beating heart, that once was broken...in time
Can become mended and fulfilled this night
No secret thought will go unspoken, and I
Can turn this flood into an ocean tide
I see the glimmering of hope in your eye
It seems our destinies are one
Let us make whole what was broken tonight
Let what was dead be awoken tonight