Living Behind The Sun

Devics

I can't wake up from the dream of a girl
Who stopped loving me.
Carelessly she took to the sky
And left me behind.

Into the night
She flew from my side,
Her voice faded from my head.
I can't believe what's happening to me,
My body lives on, but my soul is dead.

Somewhere between the sun and the night
You changed your mind.
Nothing's the same
And nothing has changed --
I still wait like a fool.

Steady she goes, full speed ahead,
A cloud of black smoke chokes me in my bed.
Too weak to let go,
Too strong to give in,

All that I've wanted is lost once again.
I torture myself every minute that goes by,
You're throwing the bait, and my heart slowly dies.
Boiling and red, you finish me off,

You lie through your mouth
And I see it in your eyes.

Somewhere between the sun and the night
You changed your mind.
Nothing's the same,
And nothing has changed --
I still wait like a fool.
