

Loss

Devil Sold His Soul

The sadness always comes in waves
I'll learn to live with it someday
Although it will never truly leave
Life will grow around our grief
'Cause you're in every memory that I own
But I'd give up all I have to make another one with you
You're in every memory that I own
And I hope we'll meet again
I hope we'll meet again
The sadness always comes in waves
I'll learn to live with it someday
Although it will never truly leave
Life will grow around our grief
'Cause you're in every memory that I own
And I'll give up all I have to make another one with you
'Cause you're in every memory that I own
And I know we'll be okay, I know we'll feel again
'Cause you're in every memory that I own
But I'd give up all I have to make another one with you

You're in every memory that I own
And I hope we'll meet again
I hope we'll meet again
And when it drags me to my knees
I'll find you to start again
And when it drags me to my knees
But then the sharpness never dulls
My sight eroding
The sadness always comes in waves
I'll learn to live with this someday
Although it will never truly leave
The sadness never dulls
The hurting never ends
'Cause you're in every memory that I own
And I'd give up all I have to make another one with you
'Cause you're in every memory that I own
And I hope we'll meet again
I hope we'll meet again
It's all that I have left
It's all that I have left
It's all that I have left
It's all that I have left