

Summoning

DevilDriver

You say to yourself, "Does the world even care?"
As you sit with your head in your hands in despair
It's all so futile, the mistakes that we've made
This life is a turnstile, straight to the grave

It reminds you you're alive
It reminds you, fight to survive

You can't fault death as the oceans collide
And everything around you starts to slide
You can't fault death

I heard you say to yourself, "Does this world even care?"
As you tie the noose tightly and kick out the chair
It's all so senseless, can't make sense of it now
There's no breath left to live this life anyhow

It reminds you you're alive
It reminds you, fight or survive

You can't fault death as the oceans collide
And everything around you starts to slide
You can't fault death, it turns from black into grey
When everything around you starts to fade

Sudden death notes
No return
Sudden death notes

This grave injustice
This grave injustice

It reminds you you're alive

You can't fault death as the oceans collide
And everything around you starts to slide
You can't fault death, it turns from black into grey
When everything around you starts to fade
You can't fault death

You can't fault death