

Mountains

Devilskin

I light the fire that you're afraid of Control the beating of your heart
I'm both the angel here to save you;
And I'm the serpent in the dark

I stand so high upon the Mountains
Higher than you'll ever be
I gave it all for your desperation
Now you must give it back to me

Oh, I give this heart of mine to you
Oh, between the Mountains and the moon
And now it's more than just a dream
Because you're right in front of me
Oh, I give this heart of mine to you

I build you hopes and sell you dreams
Defined by my own loyalty
Don't ask if I can bear your burden
My broken wings can't carry me

Now at last, we're all alone
As I sing my lamentation
And our destiny is one
With my solemn evocation

Oh, I give this heart of mine to you
Oh, between the Mountains and the moon
And now it's more than just a dream
Because you're right in front of me
Oh, I give this heart of mine to you

To you

I give this heart of mine to you
And now it's more than just a dream

Stand so high
Upon the Mountains
Higher than you'll Ever be

Oh, I give this heart of mine to you
Oh, between the Mountains and the moon
And now it's more than just a dream
Because you're right in front of me
Oh, I give this heart of mine to you
