

Methuselah

Devin Townsend

You are a window to the flowing sands of time
And you wear a halo while carrying your wine
May you live long enough to see the angels fly

You have the wisdom yet you never have the time
May you live long enough, to see the angels fly
May you live long enough to see the angels die

First we send a probe to see how far and deep this well could be
Oh no, I say it's hard to see
Do I honour me? Dude, I honestly don't know...

May you live long enough to see the angels fly
May you live long enough to see the angels fly