

The Signs

Devvon Terrell

I'm worried 'bout you baby
I'm noticing something is different
I feel like some other nigga done got your attention, whoa
I got a right to be jealous
I got a right to be mad
I'm aksing you questions
Don't let me catch him
I wanna know where we at, so

Who the fuck is this
Hitting you at like 5 in the morning
It's the middle of the night, I'm still yawning
Tryna see who's calling you, yeah
Don't lie, don't hype me
See the name in your phone "Scam likely"
Thinking to myself that I know better
This number look way too familiar

That's some other nigga that's texting you and calling at night
Thinking too hard, alright
You got it, but this shit don't feel right
But this shit don't feel right, oh
Moving different, dressing better
Talking different, smiling more
Please don't say everything's fine

'Cause these are the signs of when
You start to change your mind
These are the signs of when
You start to change your mind

You know you're moving different
Don't act like you don't even notice
Lately I been getting bored
And I don't even know if you want me to stay
[?] put my phone on silent now
Now we tryna hurt each other
Barely love or touch each other

If we keep going this way then it will hold its consequences
Somebody gon' wind up snitching 'cause your shit good and mine no different
Sex witchu is probably why I'm stuck like this, I love your shit
And why are we continuing to fuck around

And let 'em niggas text you and call you at night
Thinking too hard, alright
You got it, but this shit don't feel right
But this shit don't feel right, oh
Moving different, dressing better
Talking different, smiling more
Please don't say everything's fine

'Cause these are the signs of when
You start to change your mind
These are the signs of when
You start to change your mind
