If you're listening to this recording, chances are you're not like most people
You're different, like me
For you to find this recording in this huge haystack of music today tells me you are open-minded and not a follower of the common sound
I've never been good at expressing myself
And my personal life is something I keep very private
This is me expressing myself, the only way I know how to Since you're just like me, I know you'll relate
So please put all cell phones on silent
Open your mind as I bring into my space
