Don't need a crystal ball to make sense of our situation
The little signs, your vacant eyes and dead-end conversations
See me slipping from your mind
Painted over in white lies
You say it's love, is that the answer or is that the question?

Don't, don't let me go
I've been around for you
Think, 'bout leaving me 'lone
'Cause it's no honeymoon
Take, the step out the door
And I'll cling on to you
Say, boy how do I make you love me?

Feel it coming but I'm runnin' from my destiny
Tell me what I got to lose to keep you next to me
How do I make you love me?
How do I make you love me?

I rest my head against your chest and hear the lazy rhythm
Remember when your heart would race the chase at the beginning?
Winding through cobbled streets
Starry eyes and faded jeans
The lengths I'd go to make the world spin like it did back then, oh

Don't, don't let me go
I'm bad at loneliness
Don't know, who I've become
If you weren't in the picture
Said, you know what you want
Well, if I'm far from that then
Boy, how do I make you love me?

Feel it coming but I'm runnin' from my destiny
Tell me what I got to lose to keep you next to me
How do I make you love me?
How do I make you love me? (How do I make you love me?)

All things considered
I would've given my all
To get us through the Winter
But now I barely recognize me in the mirror
You could get away but you still don't know me
How do I make you love me?

How?
How?
How?
