

Blind

Dia Frampton

Who's gonna cut the rope
Who's gonna save a piece
Who's gonna wreck this hope
Who'll be the first to leave

Carry on, carry on
What do you say when your chance is gone?
Fair enough, fair enough
How do I drain all of this bad blood?

I do the best I can
Balancing on the edge
I'll cover up your eyes
I'll keep you safely blind

Carry on, carry on
What do you say when your chance is gone?
Fair enough, fair enough
How do I drain all of this bad blood?

Carry on, carry on
What do you say when your chance is gone?
Fair enough, fair enough
How do I drain all of this bad blood?

I'll tell you the truth
If you had nothing to lose
It cuts me straight to the bone
I'll cover up 'cause I know what it's doing to you
I've carried the weight
I came so far to protect you
He pushed me into the fire
I kept you out of the flames
I did what I had to do

I'll tell you the truth
If you had nothing to lose
My hands are over your eyes
I'll keep you safe, keep you blind
What would you say if you knew?
