

Two Hearts

Diana DeGarmo

Two hearts, two lives, so close for so long neither one can realize

How they could be so intertwined

Two hearts, two paths, one stayed east and one went west

You always think what you have is gonna last

But we changed our minds one day

Both up and walked away

Maybe our love was blind we needed time to see

We may have changed our minds

But my heart still believes

Two hearts, one love, but the other one's not so sure of

What it is they really want

Two hearts could have one name but neither one

Wants to be at blame for pain

What a funny game

Cause we changed our minds one day

Both up and walked away

Maybe our love was blind, we needed time to see...

Over the oceans across the hills

Through miles between us I want happiness for you still

No matter time or distance I'll come running to you

I wish you the best like best friends do

But if you change your mind one day

You'll know where to find me

Maybe our love was blind we needed time to see

We may of changed our minds

But my heart still believes

I still believe
