Nothing Ever Changes My Love For You

Diane Schuur

The earth may change from summer green to winter white
The brightest day can change into the darkest night.
A grey cloud may change a sky of blue
But nothing ever changes my love for you

A gentle breeze can blow into a hurricane
A happy song can change into a sad refrain
The oak leaf wil fall when autumns through
But nothing ever changes my love for you

Time will alter Gibraltor the seas may run dry
But you'll see that we'll be the same you and I
A million things are bound to change as time goes on
A million springs will come and go and when there gone
My darling the thrill will still be newww
For nothing ever changes my love for youuu.

Musical interlude

My darling the thrill will still be newww
For nothing ever changes my love for youuuu
For nothing ever changes my love for youuuuu
