

Don't You

Die Happy

Look at you
Praising honesty and truth
But even saints can be confused

What you've done
Is no better than a crime
I feel betrayed and I feel used

Now everything is done
To me you're dead and gone

Don't you ever call my name again
Don't you ever try to be a friend
After everything you've done

Don't you ever call my name again
Don't you ever fall in love again
If you cannot live without

Think of you
All we had is all we lost
Maybe too fragile to get through

Were you scared
Hid behind your point of view
Between innocence and truth

Everything's broken
And I can live without you
