from me to you
from you to me
speaking flows
and thinking seems free
from class to class
speaking ways differ
and chances pass
different speech
makes different minds
words do express
words do possess
the power of temptation
supporting success

there is new creation in mind there is new temptation in mind words can distort words can deceive brought to perfection they change belief words can control first thoughts then soul help to prepare for the final goal a nation did rise a nation did fall a leader created new ideals for all there was a word there was an idea there was a belief that thinking is free
