

Days Of Dark

Dierks Bentley

You can't make a wish, on a star, when they're all burnt out
You can't find that hope, swallowed up, in the deepest dark
The light at the end of the tunnel's a train
You're tied to the tracks with the heaviest chain

Let's chase away, the storm and the rain and the days of dark
Your hand in mine, there's no better time or a place to start
Let's raise a glass, to the pain of the past
And never look back on these broken hearts
Right where horizon, the sun started shining
So open your eyes and let's say goodbye to the days of dark

It's good to feel your kiss, a smile, back on my face
It's good to feel that rush, of blood, back in my veins
Let's dance through the fire, break out of this cage
Let's turn off the music, and let's turn the page

Let's chase away, the storm and the rain and the days of dark
Your hand in mine, there's no better time or a place to start
Let's raise a glass, to the pain of the past
And never look back on these broken hearts
Right where horizon, the sun started shining
So open your eyes and let's say goodbye to the days of dark

Still in the weeds, not out of the woods
But something in my heart
Tells me that this is the start
Of something good
(1,2,3,4...)

Let's chase away, the storm and the rain and the days of dark
Your hand in mine, there's no better time or a place to start
Let's raise a glass, to the pain of the past
And never look back on these broken hearts
Right where horizon, the sun started shining
So open your eyes and let's say goodbye to the days of dark
The days of dark!
Hey!
