

Push Me

Digital Summer

On the verge of a life that bores me to death
I'm over walking the line, couldn't give a fuck less
Had enough of a normal sin, give me another dose of anarchy
Push me into the fire in the end

Push me, push me
Just need someone to push me
Push me, push me

Just need to feel something different
Than feeling nothing at all
I'm creating chaos, pain and punishment
Just push me over the edge so I can feel the fall
I need to feel the fall

Can't keep pretending to be just another machine
Time to step out of line and embrace the obscene
Time to shake it up, I need to break it up
This masquerade'll never be enough
Rip out these wires and show me what I'm really made of

Push me, push me
Just need someone to push me
Push me, push me

Just need to feel something different
Than feeling nothing at all
I'm creating chaos, pain and punishment
Just push me over the edge so I can feel the fall

I need something different
I need something different

The cravings'll never die
You can't kill what's already dead inside
It's the losing that's left me so hollow
(Hollow, fucking hollow)
It's the chaos that gives me control
(Chaos, give me chaos)

Just need to feel something different
Than feeling nothing at all
I'm creating chaos, pain and punishment
Just push me over the edge so I can feel the fall
I need to feel the fall
I need to feel anything at all

So push me, push me
So I can feel the fall
I need to feel the fall
