

We're Alone

Dijon

What if we get married?
What if we both ran away?
We could burn the house down
And leave a note where it'll say you'll find me

We could pack it up now
We could grab keys and escape
We could wait 'til sundown
We hit the road going east where you'll find me

We could leave it all behind us
You and a map and a gun in my lap
We could stay up all night driving
'Til we're alone, we're alone, we're alone, we're alone

We could leave it all behind us
You and a map and a gun in my lap
We could stay up all night driving
'Til we're alone, we're alone, we're alone, we're alone
('Til we're alone, we're alone, we're alone, we're alone)

... I need you here by my side
We should just leave here
Oh, they say we're too young and they can't be right
How could they know what we feel
Tossing and turning, we're sleeping at night
I need you here by my side
We should just leave here
They say we're too young and they can't be right
How could they know what we feel
Tossing and turning, we're sleeping at night
I need you here by my side
We should just leave here
They say we're too young and they can't be right
How could they know what we feel
Tossing and turning, we're sleeping at night
I need you here by my side
