So Much Younger

Dion

There was a time when you believed it was the end
You're laughing easy now you're back on your feet again
Oh and you're so much younger now by many years
Than yesterday

You had no way of knowing how to stop the pain
You had to die that once so that you could live again
Oh and you're so much younger now by many years
Than yesterday

Like a moth, you were attracted to a lie
You got there and the light went out
It was your darkest night

You said goodbye to youth and it was no easy thing
But it smiled and wished you a happy new year, friend
Oh and you're so much younger now by many years
Than yesterday

Like a moth, you were attracted to a lie
When you got there and the light went out
It was your darkest night

There was a time when you believed it was the end
Well it's good to see you laughing easy now back on your feet a gain
Oh and you're so much younger now by many years
Than yesterday
Than yesterday
