

I Found Someone Else

Dionne Warwick

It's too late to mend our love affair
We don't share the things we used to share

I'm giving you back your ring (giving you back)
The love we had just ain't the same (ooh, ooh)
I can't take all the pain, and the blame
Bye, bye, baby

I found someone else to take your place
Someone who can love me many ways better than you
I won't let you hurt me anymore
Waiting for your car, I walk in the snow
Night after night, no, it ain't right

Look into my eyes, they tell your lies
They were full of tears, now they're alive

I'm giving you back your ring (giving you back)
The love we had just ain't the same
I can't take all the pain, and the blame
Bye, bye, baby

I found someone else to take your place
Someone who can love me many ways better than you
I won't let you hurt me anymore
Waiting for your car, I walk in the snow
Night after night, no, it ain't right

I found someone else
I found someone else

I found someone else to take your place
Someone who can love me many ways better than you

I found someone else to take your place
Someone who can love me many ways better than you

I found someone else to take your place
Someone who can love me many ways better than you

I found someone else to take your place
Someone who can love me many ways better than you

I found someone else to take your place
