

Jealousy

Dionne Warwick

Jealousy, look what you've done to me
Turn my head around, destroy the love that I had fell
You're the cause of all my pain
Yes, you're the blame
Now he's gone because of plain old jealousy
You were the cause of many of misery
Plain old jealousy
That make me lose everything that was good for me
That jealousy

Jealousy, release your spell from me
Let me live again, enjoy my love to the end
You make me down what I believe
Now look straight at me
I'm all alone because of plain old jealousy
You were the cause of many of misery
Plain old jealousy
That make me down everything that was good for me
That jealousy

You were the cause of all my pain
Yes, you're the blame
Now he's gone because of plain old jealousy
You're the cause of many of misery
Plain old jealousy
That make me lose everything that was good for me
That jealousy
