

Fire Away

Dirty Honey

You're harder than stone
We lead from your throne
We stand on the fault of the battle lines

With a hand on your chest
We die with the rest
We end with the wool still over your eyes

When you start all over
When you start all over
No one feels the way we used to feel

When you start all over
Yeah you start all over
Coming down from where we used to be

So fire away
Whatever you say, yeah
Will only lead, lead me from the masquerade

Fire away
Whatever you say, yeah
Will only lead, lead me from the masquerade

The hands that you shake
Can never create
The wings that you need when you want to fly

That you wanted to see
Has left you deceived
As you stand on the edge to take your flight

When you start all over
You start all over
And no one feels the way we used to feel

I say you start all over
You start all over
Coming down from where we used to be

So fire away
Whatever you say, yeah
Will only lead, lead me from the masquerade

Fire away
Whatever you say, yeah
Will only lead, lead me from the masquerade

And when it's over
And when it's something down will you be saved?
Cause no one's left to save the ones who played
To save the ones who played

You start all over
You start all over

You start all over
You start all over

So fire away
Whatever you say, yeah
Will only lead, lead me from the masquerade

Fire away
Whatever you say, yeah
Will only lead, lead me from the masquerade

Lead me from the masquerade
