

Backstabber

Disciple

Backstabber
You liar, betrayer
I should've known you'd be just like your father

I know he hurt you
But that's no excuse
To hurt anything and everything that touches you

What more could you want?
I was not enough
And that was evident
By the fact that you
Lied to me and cheated, repeatedly
You never loved me

I hoped in you, I believed in you, I'd forgiven you
It's all for nothing
Everything I knew is dead
I won't let you in again

Today is the first day of the rest of my life
I fell the new come in
As I shed my skin
Today is the first day of the rest of my life
I stand on broken chains
That held this bitter slave

Coldhearted, you hater
Love me now, so you leave me later
Deceiver, so clever
Jezebel couldn't do much better

I have nothing to remember you by
'cause the only thing
You gave to me was

God is this what I put you through
In my unfaithfulness to You?