

Lay My Burdens

Disciple

There are things that I'll never understand
The road I've walked that has made me who I am (Romans 8:28)
Reminiscing with the picture on the wall again
Reminding me just how far away I've been

I'm looking to lay my burdens down
They're something I can't carry anymore (Matthew 11:28)
I'm longing to lay my body down
Beside still waters and find rest for my soul (Psalm 23:2-3)

My knees are weak and my mind is tired (Hebrews 12:12-13)
I've followed every dream of every liar
If there's a place that you've prepared for me that I belong (John 14:2-3)
Then let these dry bones arise to live and breathe your song (Ezekiel 37:5)

What once was dead has now come alive (Ephesians 2:1-5)
